FOUNDER'S NOTE

It's that time of the year again when we have the Annual Art for Education fundraiser. Together, we have transformed countless lives by providing vital learning kits to children in public schools across Lagos. In just two years, your unwavering support has enabled us to equip 6,000 students in public primary schools spanning three different Nigerian states. Your generosity has been the driving force behind these remarkable achievements.

In 2023, we are approaching Art for Education differently, with a shift that promises to expand our impact. We are thrilled to announce a collaboration with Forme Femine to run an online art exhibition to raise funds towards the Equipped to Learn initiative. Our goal this year is to provide period care kits for up to 2000 girls in public schools in Lagos because we believe that this is a step in the right direction in making a profound difference in the lives of countless girls who deserve a chance to thrive in their education.

We understand that this year's exhibition being online reduces the personal touch that the fundraiser usually has but we assure you that we have again worked together with some of the most talented Nigerian artists to put together an exhibition that is just as beautiful and just as impactful and we anticipate your partnership again this year as we embark on this incredible journey to empower girls and elevate their futures.

We're especially excited to welcome our latest and youngest addition to the exhibiting artists - Gift Jones and Victor Udoh. Gift and Victor are graduates of Ireti Grammar school where the Real Impact team embarked on its first school rehabilitation project. They are currently undergoing a mentorship program with one of the renowned artists also exhibiting this year - Titilola Fagbemi. Special thanks to the Roberts Charity Foundation for making this possible.

The end of the year brings no greater joy than the opportunity to express how grateful we are to you all for being a part of this movement for the last 3 years. Happy holidays, and may your new year be filled with happiness and success.
